Metelytsia brings old tale to life

By VICKI BROOKER
Review Staff

Elk Point's Metelytsia Ukrainian Dance Ensemble brought a favourite childhood tale to life with a new twist at their 2012 Malanka celebration on Saturday night, as they performed "Sophia and the Seven Cossacks," with the whole troupe getting in on the fun.

Following words of welcome and homespun wisdom by traveling gypsy storyteller Marushka, Intermediate dancers Madison MacDonald, Morgan Baker, Kira Brunner, Jesse Theriault, Bryce Osinchuk and Jaden Plaska opened the show with a lively Bukovyna Tanets. Senior dancers Taylor Cochrane, Elizabeth Orr, Savannah Plaska and Leigha Bishop were next in the spotlight, brightly hued skirts whirling and red slippers flashing as they swept through the Tambourine Dance.

The featured performance began with the beautiful Sophia happily wandering through the garden, tending her 'flowers'. Beginners group dancers Austin and Cazmyne Handy, Shaylyn Klatt, Emma-May Nelson, Dae Smereka, Lauryn Smith and Rylee Verenka, who joined her in a charming little dance.

This time wasting didn't sit well with the Wicked Queen, instructor Debbie Kachmar-Potter, who took away Sophia's bouquet and set her to sweeping the floor instead. The queen's temper deteriorated further when her magic mirror told her that Sophia, not she, was the fairest in the land. She banished Sophia to the forest, where she met a handsome woodsman (Bryce Osinchuk).

More Hutzul woodsmen Christopher Boratynec, Sam Henderson, Mickal Pilisko, Charlie and Hank Rogal and Ty Smereka came down the river in a canoe and joined the river maidens Abby Baker, Katelyn Boratynec, Macey Drobot, Paige Henderson, Kaylee Poitras and Jorja Theriault in the Junior I group's rollicking dance.

New leadership for Rural Crime Watch

By VICKI BROOKER
Review Staff

The Greater Lakeland Rural Crime Watch Association is under new leadership and is looking at ways to expand its profile, following the organization's first annual meeting since 2007.

Outgoing president Steve Kohl took responsibility for the five-year lapse, saying that for most of that period, the LRCWA was "dead in the water," with virtually no activity. A well-attended meeting last spring in Elk Point determined that there was substantial interest in rural crime prevention in that area, and a decision was subsequently made to revive the existing group rather than to start a separate organization.

Dave Mowat, CEO

I have no idea what “smart money” means, but I do know what “smart people” means. It means heart balanced with brains, passion merged with reason—like the people who work at ATB. Smart people coming together is where real creative solutions come from. Seriously, it’s who we look for, because it’s exactly what Alberta needs. If you’re one—

Magic mirrors don't always tell you what you want to hear, the Wicked Queen discovers in Saturday's Malanka production, "Sophia and the Seven Cossacks".

Classic tale comes to life

It was a busy day in the forest, because then came the fabled Seven Cossacks: Grumpy (Elizabeth Orr), Bashful (Savannah Plaska), Doc (Morgan Baker), Happy (Madison MacDonald), Sneezzy (Kira Brunner), Dopey (Jaden Plaska) and Sleepy (Jesse Theriault), who Hi Ho'd their way off to work and met Sophia on their way. They grew very fond of the lovely maiden and offered her much needed friendship.

When the magic mirror told the Wicked Queen that Sophia was alive, well and living in the forest, that formidable hag snatched up an apple dropped by one of the Orchard Maidens, Junior IIs Sadie Baker, Rhianna Bjorkman Sydnee Crawford, Brooklyn Gochko, Kolbie Poitras Emma Poulin and Mykaela Verenka, who had danced by with laden baskets. She brewed up a wicked batch of fog-emitting poison, and made sure the apple was well coated with the brew before she set it out where Sophia was sure to see it. One bite was all it took, before the fair maiden started feeling faint. The Cossacks rescued her and carried her to a bench in a shady nook, where the sleeping Sophia was discovered by a passing prince (Bryce Osinchuk), who just couldn't help himself – he had to kiss her. The reawakened Sophia, the prince and the Cossacks danced with delight at this happy ending.

A high-leaping solo by Jaden Plaska and the traditional Hopak by the Intermediates completed the program.

New leadership for GLRCW

Revitalization got underway almost immediately, with the Rural Crime Watch float dug out of mothballs for Elk Point's Canada Day parade and the volunteers who rode on it later setting up a display at the arena, handing out information and signing up new members. More new members signed up at Elk Point's annual Information Night in September.

After the encouraging interest shown at fall meetings in St. Paul and Elk Point, Thursday's small AGM attendance was somewhat disappointing, but was likely due to the very cold weather.

Member of Parliament Brian Storseth, guest speaker at the meeting, was raised on a farm and "I know the sense of security (rural crime watch) brings. My city-raised wife feels it's a great idea."

The Harper government is seeking changes to the Criminal Code "so it reflects the right of victims," and in November, tabled the citizens' self-defense act, which would simplify overly complex laws related to self-defense and the defense of property, Storseth said. "It will clarify what your rights are, and you do have rights," he added.

"We're not advocating vigilantism. We're just giving rights to the victims of crime and making sure the criminals the police catch spend some time in jail."

Storseth noted that "a number of changes to the criminal code" are in the works, with "over three dozen bills" being considered. The Young Offenders Act is among the targets for change, he said.

When asked how Rural Crime Watch can help the process, Storseth urged members to write to their MPs sharing their thoughts on the changes, and "give the RCMP all the help you can. Talk to your friends and neighbours."

RCMP Cpl. Randi Kelly represented the St. Paul

Detachment at the meeting and said she is "not that familiar with Rural Crime Watch, but I will educate myself." The detachment "wants to understand your concerns, and we will come to your meetings and find out." She also offered to help with plans to bring back weekly crime prevention tips in local papers, which had been a popular way of informing the public in years past.

Kohl reported that Rural Crime Watch signs for major roadways coming into the Greater Lakeland area have been ordered and should be arriving shortly. Three delegates will represent Greater Lakeland at the Alberta Rural Crime Watch Conference in Cochrane in February.

An activity committee has been formed and already has an upcoming event for RCW members on their calendar. Calvin Leckie will instruct a four-hour workshop on awareness and self-defense on Saturday, Mar. 2 at Elk Point Elementary School and will address issues such as attack prevention, assertiveness and the principles and techniques of self-defense. For more information, call Dolores at 780-724-2068.

Outgoing vice-president Wes Bennett presided over the election of the new executive, with Levina Ewasiuk elected as president, Orest Sereda as vice-president and Donna Spielmacher as secretary, while Anna Leskiw retained her seat as treasurer. The appointment of zone coordinators was deferred to Feb. 16, in hopes of a more widespread representation of members at that meeting, to be held at Elk Point Elementary School. A review of the association's bylaws and suggestions for promotion in other areas will also be on that agenda.

The Greater Lakeland Rural Crime Watch area includes the County of St. Paul and surrounding areas, such as Flat Lake and Stry.

Wise decision

Looking at the jam-packed Arts and Leisure Centre on Saturday evening, it was once again evident how very wise the Town of Elk Point and the County of St. Paul were to support the endeavours of the industrious and hardworking Regional Allied Arts Society and help them to acquire and set up this phenomenal facility.

The Arts and Leisure Centre fulfills many roles in our community, from concerts and dinner theatres to karate classes to Information Night, Big Bucks, wedding dances and funerals. All ages use and enjoy its functional and spacious auditorium throughout the year.

The joint support played a big role in helping this facility to succeed. The same kind of cooperation is needed to ensure that other facilities, such as the A. G. Ross Arena, the Municipal Library and the Curling Club, will succeed in their endeavours to serve the residents of both municipalities and beyond.

Cooperation is a huge factor in a community's success, and we must all remember that both town and county make this community 'The Right Place to Be.'

WAY BACK WHEN...

Boundaries, Byers Blues, Battle of Alberta

HERE'S THE NEWS THAT MADE THE HEADLINES OF THE LAKELAND REVIEW AND ELK POINT REVIEW FOR THE WEEK OF JAN 24 IN...

1987

Nursing director Diana Anderson, town administrator Pat Vincent and hospital administrator Clem Johnson found the response encouraging when they manned a booth at the Alberta Hospitals Association Student Interchange. Harvey Aarbo, Alban Bugej and Ken Nielsen were elected to the posts of first vice-president, secretary and treasurer on the Alberta Co-Calf Association executive.

1992

Proposed changes to provincial electoral boundaries, which would substantially increase the territory covered by a rural MLA by changing five constituencies into three larger ones, were a major concern for town council, which agreed this would stretch MLAs. Byers Transport Blues won silver at their Novice hockey tournament.

1997

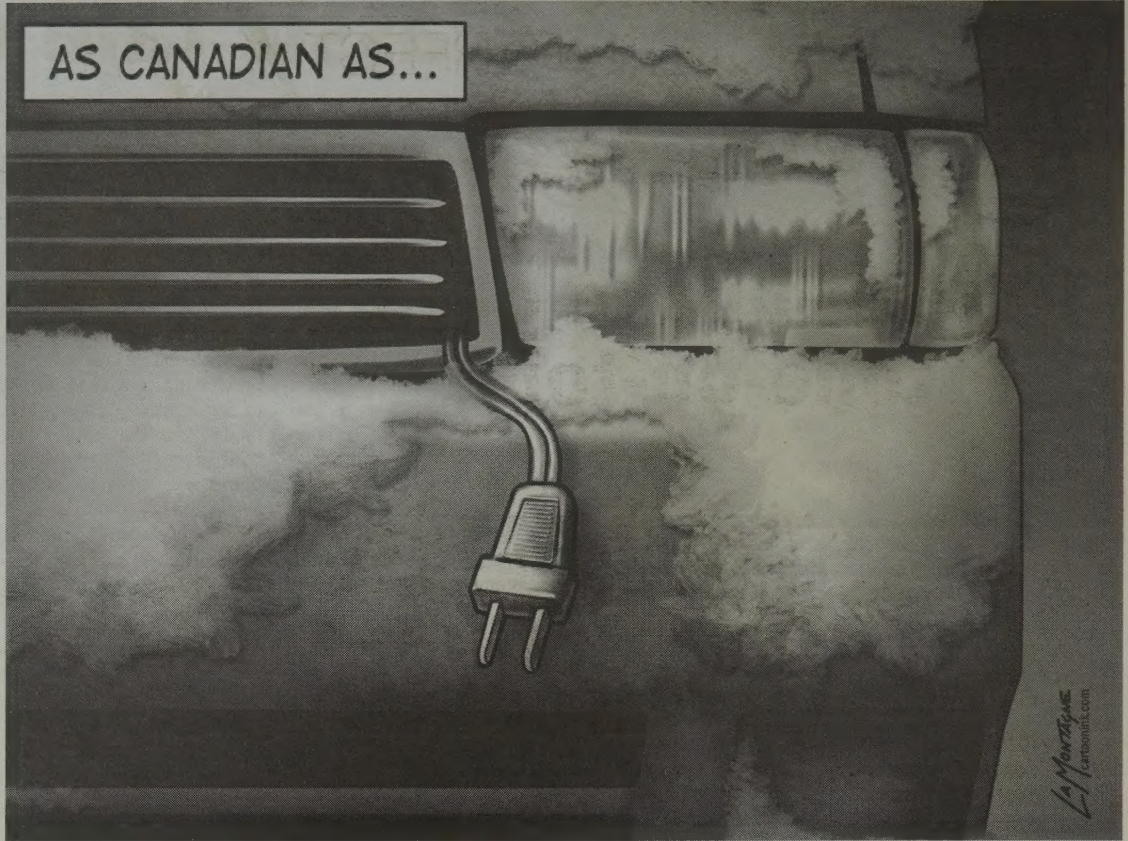

Ferguson Flats would be the centre of Koch Petroleum's proposed new drilling program, with 24 pads dotting a six-section block of land. Clare Gauvreau of the St. Paul Tobacco Reduction Project told the Elk Point Interagency Health Committee that measures are being taken in this area to reduce the use of tobacco by teens.

2002

Local hockey fans enjoyed a true Battle of Alberta as women's hockey teams from Edmonton and Calgary took to the A. G. Ross Arena ice in one of the Cameron Cup women's hockey super series games. The town's substantial subsidization of commercial garbage collection rates would be coming to an end after 19 months, with collection, transportation and dumping fees for the 54 dumpsters costing the town more than five times the amount collected from the businesses.

2007

Signage and souvenirs were among the ideas brought to the table as the Centennial/Canada Day Committee got back to work after the Christmas break. Town manager Myron Goyan suggested that the chamber of commerce use some of the profit from Extravaganza to build an Elk Point float to promote the community in parades.

GUEST COLUMN

Robert Burns remembered

Tomorrow, January 25th, the birthday of Robert Burns (January 25, 1759) is a remembered day to all those who are Scottish or have Scottish heritage. It is the Robert Burns Day and is also known as Robbie Burns Day. Celebration takes place during the Burns supper, which can be informal or formal. During the supper the National Dish of Scotland is served. This is the beloved Haggis.

For those interested in learning about the Haggis, I did some research. You might have a hard time finding a haggis in the grocery stores. The USDA has declared them "unfit for human consumption". Any guesses as to why that would be the case? O.K., it is a wonderful, tasty dish which uses sheep offal (the bits nowadays often discarded; lungs, hearts, liver). The cooked minced offal is mixed with suet, oatmeal, seasoning and encased in the sheep stomach. Once stitched up, the stuffed stomach is boiled for up to three hours.

Here's a recipe for the beloved Haggis of Scotland. It was posted to the Usenet newsgroup rec. food. Recipes by Don Reid. In addition to the other naughty bits, the lungs are traditionally included in Scotland, but are omitted here, as it's illegal to sell lungs in the U.S.

1 sheep's lung (illegal in the U.S.; may be omitted if not available)

1 sheep's stomach

1 sheep heart

1 sheep liver

½ lb fresh suet (kidney leaf fat is preferred)

¾ cup oatmeal (the ground or steel cut type, NOT the Quaker Oats type!)

deanna
EASTHOPE
from the FCSS desk

3 onions, finely chopped
1 teaspoon salt

1 teaspoon freshly ground pepper
½ teaspoon cayenne
½ teaspoon nutmeg
¾ cup stock

Wash lungs and stomach well, rub with salt and rinse. Remove membranes and excess fat. Soak in cold salted water for several hours. Turn stomach inside out for stuffing. Cover heart and liver with cold water. Bring to a boil, reduce heat, cover and simmer for 30 minutes. Chop heart and coarsely grate liver. Toast oatmeal in a skillet on top of the stove, stirring frequently, until golden. Combine all ingredients and mix well. Loosely pack mixture into stomach, about two-thirds full. Remember, oatmeal expands in cooking. Press any air out of stomach and truss securely. Put into boiling water to cover. Simmer for 3 hours, uncovered, adding more water as needed to maintain water level. Prick stomach several times with a sharp needle when it begins to swell; this keeps the bag from bursting. Place on a hot platter, removing trussing strings. Serve with a spoon. Ceremoniously served with "neeps, tatties and nips" - mashed turnips, mashed potatoes, nips of whiskey. Alongside other Scottish favorites Cock-a-Leekie (vegetable) Soup and Crannachan, a dessert made from raspberry, toasted oatmeal and cream can also be enjoyed.

If you really do make this beloved Haggis - the national dish of Scotland - you may want to say the Selkirk Grace, because Burns was said to have delivered it at a dinner given by the Earl of Selkirk.

*Some hae meat and canna eat,
And some wad eat that want it;
But we hae meat, and we can eat,
And sae let the Lord be thankit.*

So whether you are Scottish, of Scottish heritage or have friends who are Scottish, and whether or not you plan to enjoy eating a bit of the Haggis, may we wish you all a happy Rrobbie Burrms Day!

PICTURE PERFECT wedding

Trends for the groom tone-on-tone

On the wedding day, it may be true that all eyes are on the bride, but a well-dressed groom will still be appreciated. He is one of the main stars of this celebration, after all!

A classy and unique suit is on the agenda; after those criteria, the groom should choose a suit he feels comfortable in, one that corresponds to his personal style and that is tailored to his body shape. For an impeccably fitted suit, the groom should have a last fitting at the tailor's, two or three weeks before the wedding.

The fabric of the groom's suit should be chosen according to the season and its overall style should match the tone of the wedding; a suit is perfect for an afternoon wedding, while a tuxedo is required for an evening event. When choosing a suit, think of it as an investment; it should signal sophistication and elegance rather than office-job functionality.

Once a suit has been chosen, the next secret to a refined look lies in the tie. A contemporary finish requires a tone-on-tone tie that matches the colour of the shirt; it is a very attractive look, especially if both are pale in colour. Pale tone-on-tone will brighten up the complexion and highlight the smile.

Dressed to the hilt in all his finery, the groom will shine on his big day.

The romantic bride

If you plan to exchange wedding vows with your beloved in 2012, you'll want to stay on top of the latest bridal trends. The big designers worked feverishly all fall in order to present their most recent and beautiful collections in time for wedding season.

Months have passed since the royal wedding, but the Kate Middleton effect is still echoing in wedding dress boutiques. Dressed in her sumptuous gown, the Duchess of Cambridge launched the romantic trend that is all the rage at the moment.

Fit for a princess, romantic style dresses are recognized by their fitted bodices and magnificent skirts, full of volume and texture. To create the balloon effect of a Cinderella-style crinoline, tulle is still the material of choice for designers. The layering of different textured fabrics, shimmering against matte, increases the depth of the skirt, resulting in a supremely opulent look. A veil to cover the entire face or adorn the hair finishes the princess-bride effect.

In bridal collections as elsewhere, lace is becoming popular again, often appearing in a trim applied to the hem of the gown. The antique effect of a flounced dress is accentuated by opting for a colour such as eggshell or ivory, although these shades only suit certain complexions. Be sure to try on several dresses in varying tones of white in order to find the best colour for you.

The balloon skirt, so characteristic of the romantic style, confers a princess look to any bride.

If wedding bells will soon be ringing for you and your beloved, here are a few practical makeup tips to help you look radiant on your big day.

If you have the means, entrust your makeup to an aesthetician that you know and trust. If you don't know one, ask around for recommendations. Make an appointment several weeks before the wedding for a trial makeup session. You will be able to try a couple of looks, such as natural, glamorous, or dramatic, and the aesthetician will better know which kinds of products will suit you best on the big day.

If you're good at doing your own makeup and prefer to do it yourself, don't forget that you should still do a practice run before the big event. Keep in mind that your makeup for the wedding day is likely going to be different from what you wear to the office. Above all, you'll want to make sure you choose products that will help you look fresh all day long.

For your wedding day makeup, prepare your skin by applying a good moisturizer and then the makeup base. That will allow it to last longer and will also give it a better finish. Choose a good quality foundation that is not orangey and that blends perfectly with the colour of your skin.

Opt for waterproof mascara. It will be useful if your dad's speech brings tears to your eyes! And for a seductive pout that lasts all evening, choose a long-lasting lipstick and touch it up throughout the day with a quick swipe of lip gloss.

A final touch: a few sprays of makeup fixative to keep you from looking wilted and smudged as you meet and greet all day. The setting spray holds foundation and eye makeup in place while erasing any powdery effect.

PICTURE PERFECT wedding

Flowers are a key element of any wedding

In many people's minds, a successful wedding event often rests on the choice of flowers. The most beautiful of Mother Nature's offerings, they are essential for setting the tone of the day. The trend in 2012 is towards smaller bouquets and less imposing floral centrepieces on the tables.

Vases are appearing in all shapes, sizes, and materials: ceramic, zinc, glass, and stoneware, for example. Two timeless favourites, the rose and the orchid, adapt perfectly to all these different vases. Just imagine the elegant yet contemporary look these flowers have when arranged in a huge glass vase on a guest-book table or beside an altar.

The trend in bouquets is turning towards natural simplicity rather than extravagance. White, cream, and ivory flowers form the base, with lots of greenery to set them off. Branches and leaves matched to different types of flowers are used to top off a glorious monochrome bouquet.

Regardless of the colours, tradition still rules the size of a bouquet. Choose a simple bouquet if your outfit is fairly ornate. If your gown is simple, exoticism and creativity can run wild. Round bouquets go well with tapered dresses, and cascading bouquets are perfect for gowns with trains.

Lastly, one small hint to help you avoid a truly out-dated effect: don't try to match the colour of the flowers with the groom's outfit or with the bridesmaid's dresses.

Peewees take provincial round in one game

It's normal to have the pre game jitters, especially if you're playing in a Provincial round robin game. But they didn't last long for the Peewee Avalanche on Sunday at noon when they hosted Bonnyville. The "Big O" Brody Odaard opened the scoring for the Avalanche less than three minutes into the game, Brodin "the Bull" Ference added another one 30 seconds later and the Avalanche never looked back after that, winning this one easily by a score of 13 to 1. With more than a 10- goal spread the Avalanche can save some cash not having to do the return trip in Bonnyville that was scheduled for Thursday night. And they just may need the extra gas money, considering the next round will be against either Thorhild or Wabasca.

"The Bull" was on the rampage with seven goals, "the Big O" played an excellent game in both ends of the rink, he and Ross "Rosy" McGillivray with a hat trick each. Big smooth skating defenseman Nicholas Tucker setting up three, Chad "Pick Pocket" Poitras with an assist and two trips over to visit us in the sin bin, Alex Hunter, Ethan Tremblay "Taylor Made" Pankiw, Lyon Cueva and Amy Harms all with helpers.

It was a magnificent weekend for the Atom Avalanche No. 1 team with two big wins, playing here on Saturday and winning over Bonnyville 10 to 2. A hat trick for Devon "Naz" Nazarchuk, two for Kaiden "K-Rock" Evans -Anderson and Colton "B Train" Van Maarion maneuvering his big rig down the interstate for a couple as well, "Coast to Coast" Conner Lychak banked one off the goalie from the corner, Dylan "the Destroyer" Ference launching a missile into the target for one and adding three assists, and the rugged hard nosed team captain Dustyn Pankiw hit the jackpot with one. Defenseman Hayden "Hot Wheels" Ludlage doing a lot of the legwork, set up two. Goaltender Darrian "the Dominator" Rybchinski was not so busy in this one, but had to stay sharp on few tricky bounces.

On Sunday they hosted Cold Lake and it was more of the same, the Avalanche winning this one 11 to 3. This was likely the best game of the season for "K Rock" who was on top of his game scoring a hat trick and setting up three others, team captain Dustyn Pankiw with a hat trick and a helper, "Hot Wheels" was in the groove too, he buried two and set up four others, "Naz" with a goal and an assist, "the Dominator" the Destroyer" and "Coast to Coast" all adding to the total. No glory for the mammoth defenseman Corbin "Crusher" Ockerman or the other blue liners, Wolke Cueva, "Hammering Hank" Rogal and Angus McFarlane, but they all did their part doing a fantastic job in the defensive zone.

This past weekend was easy for the boys, but the real test will come tonight at 7 p.m. when they host St. Paul in the first game of the two-game Provincial round robin, come on out a cheer the boys to victory!

The Atom No. 2 team wasn't quite so fortunate on Saturday when they faced off against Lloydminster. The whole team seemed a little sluggish after taking last weekend off and missing some practice time this past weekend due to the weather. Goalie Erin Duffee was bombarded facing over 50 shots.

On Sunday against Cold Lake it was like a whole new team showed up to play, the Avalanche down by two going into the third would come back and tie the game at 4-all. "Sam I Am" Henderson with two goals, Chase Dorey and Tammy "Ram Rod" Roberts add singles. "Michelin Man" Parker Allen was between the pipes in this one standing on his head in the third as the team put the pressure on with some super fore checking by Tyler Jamieson, Zachary "Scooter" Tchir and Brandon" Bart Schaap.

On the road down in Dewberry on Saturday at the OK corral, the Novice Avalanche had a difficult time trying to contain the Colts' big horses. These guys are bred to run and they gave the Avalanche all they could handle, but the game was far from a run away, the Avalanche did lasso a few of them, put them in the corral, saddled them up, but they just couldn't stay on for the 60 minute ride. "Lightning Liam" Ludlage with two, Evan "Ernie" Ockerman, Jaden "Jet Stream" Van Maarion and Ronan "Radar" Poulin all adding singles, Luke "Skywalker" Poulin, Jace "the Streak" Stafford and the "Little Angel" Charlie Rogal all with helpers.

Because we are such good neighbors, the Micro Novice who played in Dewberry as well on Saturday, gave the Dewberry bunch a few players to even up the lines. Rylee Warawa with a hat trick, Gavin Kadutski, Kade Fontaine and Lenae Peebles all scoring two goals each.

The date has been set for the second annual Jim Vinge Memorial Hockey Tournament, which will go March 9 to 11, with the money raised on the weekend going to the A. G. Ross Arena, Elk Point Minor Hockey and the Jim Vinge Sports Scholarship Fund. Watch for more information on the tournament in next week's issue.

And now for the K.A.Campbell quote of the week. "Winning doesn't always mean being first. Winning means you're doing better than you've ever done before. "Last week's answer to- "They always try to play with our minds. But that won't work with our club. We've got twenty guys without brains." - Bobby Clarke. Do you have a sports scoop? # Parker Preddy's story

By VALERIE AND GAVIN PREDDY.

On Nov. 17, 2011, at 8:15 a.m., baby Parker came into the world. Unfortunately, he entered the world with a bad heart. No ultrasounds showed so we had no warnings the whole pregnancy.

He got to come home with us on Nov. 20 and by Monday, Nov. 21, Parker's body went into shock. We rushed him to the Elk Point Health Centre at 6 p.m. and they did an x-ray on his heart. Dr. Ramful noticed something very unusual in the x-ray and immediately called the Children's Hospital in Edmonton. A cardiac team flew out and by midnight, had Parker prepared for the flight of his life to the NICU ward in the Stollery. Finally, by about 4 a.m., the doctors told us Parker has a coarctation in his main artery that sends blood to the kidneys and lower part of his body, and needed surgery right away so the organs were shutting down. He also has a VSD (ventricular septal defect) and an ASD (atrial septal defect). They are both holes in the heart. The VSD is a big hole that causes the pulmonary artery to pump way too much blood into the lungs so for the surgery they had to go into the left side of his body behind the ribs, cut out the narrowing, and fuse the artery back together. Then they had to put a small band around the pulmonary artery to control the blood flow to his lungs. This took roughly two and a half hours for the surgery and it was the longest two and a half hours of our lives.

As stressful as all this was, the next day, the doctors tell us Parker has caught a virus in his blood and they have no idea how so he'll have to stay in hospital for six more weeks to get IV antibiotics to kill the infection. The virus is gone and now he is getting ready for his next surgery which would be in February. This time it will be open heart to close up both holes and remove the band around the artery. This surgery is scary as they have to stop his heart and put him on a heart-lung machine and also break his ribs to get to his heart. Parker is not in the clear yet, but he is recovering very well now from the first surgery so please keep him in your thoughts as he is a strong fighter and will overcome his obstacles in life. At 6 weeks, he had been through more than the average baby (or adult for that matter).

Elks aid family

Elk Point Elks Lodge member and Hahn's Welding foreman Kevin Bjornstad and Exalted Ruler Michael Chubey present a cheque for $750 to Valerie, Gavin and little Parker Preddy, to help offset some of the travel costs associated with the treatment of the little one's very serious heart and aortic conditions. Dad had to leave work at Hahn's Welding many times to be with little Parker while he recuperated from major surgery at the Stollery in Edmonton. The family is very thankful for the great support so far. The Elk Point Elks Lodge will also continue to research grants from the Alberta Elks Foundation and the Elks and Royal Purple Fund for Children to continue supporting the little one while he works hard in getting back into good health. Little Parker "is a strong fighter and will overcome his obstacles in life", says mom. "At only six weeks he's been through more than the average adult."
